Profile

Sheila is a caring and empathic clinician, skilled in building positive and supportive relationships with children, young people and adults, empowering them to make positive changes to their lives. She prides herself in being a good listener.

Having worked with children, young people and their families for over 25 years she is highly experienced in understanding the needs of children with learning, emotional and behavioural difficulties including brain injury. Sheila has an excellent insight into the challenges and difficulties that these can present, particularly with children's development and education. Both with children and adults Sheila has extensive experience of working with a vast range of multi-agency professionals including resourcing and commissioning experienced therapists to meet clients' needs.

She has a good understanding of the litigation process pre and post settlement.

Sheila has worked as a case manager since 2016 having qualified as a Social Worker in 2007 and a Senior Practitioner since 2009.

Sheila has a keen interest in brain injury and keeps up to date with the latest research and regularly attends training events and conferences.

Testimonial

"I have always found Sheila to be an excellent case manager. She is responsive, reliable, and solutions driven. She is very down to earth and approachable, which helps her develop good relationships with clients."
