Profile

Greg's empathetic approach with clients and their families and understanding of the impact of disability on people's lives make him a popular choice with clients.

Whilst his robust communication skills with all stakeholders involved in the rehabilitation process helps the smooth progression of a case, he never loses sight of the needs of the injured client.

With over 10 years of clinical experience as physiotherapist in a variety of settings, Greg has experience with a wide range of life changing injuries including complex orthopaedic/polytrauma, amputees and brain injury. He is a specialist in Vocational Case Management, skilled at supporting individuals and their employers on the attainment of a positive and sustainable return to work.

Greg's strength lies in his strong and broad evidence-based clinical knowledge and reasoning and through his experience of navigating the NHS, private healthcare, and statutory services to get the best outcome for his clients.

Testimonial

"Greg has shown great professionalism working with clients with a variety of physical and mental needs and has produced good quality reports and built up a good rapport with the injured Claimant. Some of the clients have been difficult to work with and he has maintained a high standard of professionalism." Personal Injury Solicitor
