Profile

Shelley worked as an oncology nurse before transitioning into brain injury case management in 2011. She has held a mixed caseload of children and adults, with a range of conditions including birth trauma, brain injury, polytrauma and other complex health conditions.

Shelley is a proactive and conscientious case manager who strives to achieve the best outcomes for clients and their families. She has a professional robustness that supports the development and maintenance of therapeutic relationships with clients with severe cognitive deficits. Because of her background she can show genuine empathy and compassion in times of need.

Shelley is goal focused and works collaboratively across private and statutory providers. She maintains oversight of multidisciplinary teams to ensure timely and appropriate interventions. Throughout her 14 years in case management, she has successfully worked alongside numerous Litigation Solicitors to support the medico-legal process and has developed a solid understanding of her role within this process.

Testimonial

"I have repeatedly appointed Shelley as a case manager for my clients because of the high quality of her work, attention to detail and her ability to form lasting relationships with my clients and to make sound, evidence based clinical judgements in the best interests of the clients."
